

◀ Karen Murrell Skincare

A Kiwi genius in skincare, Karen developed her line with the help of a laboratory in France. Karen delivers products for the problem, not the symptom. Absolute Luxury Face Moisturiser is a stunning line-up of rose, grapeseed and frankincense oil. This gives you an allergy-free deep quench to your skin. Another favourite is Pure Honesty Cleansing Gel. It contains Carrageenan, Geranium and Tamanu oils to ensure a soft but deep clean, including make-up, ranging from $30.

◀ Aveeno

Who wouldn't want to be positively radiant? The Active Naturals range by Aveeno has just launched Positively Radiant, a range to make your skin come alive. An all-time favourite is the tinted moisturiser. This soy-based product is non-heavy and light-reflecting. With a shade to suit everyone and an SPF of 30, this is the perfect smooth on and go – no streaks, no tide lines, no fuss. To help at the end of the day, they have a special cleanser to gently remove your tint and soften the skin after being in the sun. Starting at $22.95.

▲ Oxygen Skincare and Make-Up

The name says it all; natural ingredients to let the skin breathe. The latest launches are the Lip Balm pots. Using beeswax and honey as the base, they have been scented and coloured naturally with divine flavours, such as chocolate, strawberry, honey and our favourite; mandarin. Starting at $12.95.

▶ Giovanni Hair Care

Incorporating natural vitamins, herbs, minerals, proteins, nutrients and the purest of oils, this organic range ensures optimum health for your hair. Using ripe-harvested and renewable plants, cold-pressed oils and Giovanni's PreOrganic technology, they promise maximum purity. Although it's a "green" product, it's anything but new to celebrity style. A great detangler and radiant shine, this could be your new photo ready range. $19.95 each.

◀ Sukin

An Australian-based range, Sukin is based on rosehip and avocado oils. A big player in their range is aloe vera, a great, natural healing agent for sensitive skin. The body scrub smells like something you would make at home, that's how natural this range is. It gets all the ticks and although not a large range, it's one that promises to care for your skin and the environment. From $15.95.

◀ Natio Make-Up

A simple, elegant range, that has more than just your look in mind. Natio were one of the first companies at the eco starting line and they continue to deliver. Their make-up range, although not what you and we would call high fashion colours, keeps makeup 101 easy to follow, showcasing you as the star. Mineral Bronzer and Enhancer, starting from $25, or the best makeup wipes available.

▶ Berry-Luscious

Kiehl's finally arrived in New Zealand earlier this year and with a roaring success, have launched their ACAI berry skincare range. The potent Acai berry boasts many things but the best advantage is protection against environmental stress. 100% natural, they even swapped their packaging to recyclable materials from the original glass to cut down freight omissions. Now that's dedication. This has a stunning fragrance that transports to a stress-free place where your skin hugs you back. Ranging from $66.

▶ Skinfood

A full range that takes care of you from top to toe. Paraben free, this natural range is an easy step regime to skin success. Well-established amongst colour-free and preservative-free lovers, Skinfood has many top-selling products but our favourite is Cleans All. Used both day and night, this fresh-smelling product uses the calming properties of Manuka honey and aloe vera. Also great for sensitive skin, those ingredients also deliver a fast fix to upset skin. 100 ml, $12.99.
